Dear Sir / Madam

It is my privilege to recommend Kelly Wang as she is an integral member of Hugeheart Technologies - The technology department of Hugeheart Education Group. The business focus is to develop an e-learning mobile application incorporating Artificial Intelligence to help primary school students in China learn and improve English.

From the period of April 2018 - November 2018, Kelly has contributed to the prototype development of our Hugeheart learning application.

In our tech team, Kelly has co-lead the development of the backend for our prototype through Amazon Web Hosting by developing the following:

- Fields to store user details of Hugeheart learning application
- Storing student progress reports in the backend from playing e-learning games
- Storing and development of instant gratification ie. Coins, points and other rewards for students who play our e-learning games
- Customized learning through the use of Artificial Intelligence from our AI server via IBM Watson

On top of the backend development, Kelly has initiated assistance to the frontend team by helping develop initial wireframes for the Hugeheart learning application. This included the login and registration page as well as generating ideas for our teacher for our application.

Kelly has contributed (along with the team) to 93+ hours in the project between the period of April 2018 and November 2018.
